Dear Sir/Madam,

This letter is a reference for Aidan Dockery. Aidan recently completed a rather extensive assignment for the One UN Communications Team in Viet Nam. He was selected from among more than 50 applicants due to his photography experience and portfolio, understanding of Viet Nam, and competitive pricing. The assignment consisted of traveling to Northern, Southern and Central Viet Nam to obtain several hundred high quality photographs related to eight key priorities of the UN in Viet Nam, such as poverty, social inequality, migration, and climate change.

Aidan provided excellent photographs that have already added great value to the visual communications aspects of our work. He was also easy to work with and flexible in his approach to the project, which required initiative on his part, and interaction with our staff and local officials in various provinces. Many of these photographs involved children, and these were of equally high quality. They were taken appropriately and consisted of both positive images and examples of children in challenging circumstances.

I would definitely recommend Aidan for a similar type of assignment.

Best regards,

Stanford Smith
